New Combo In Moscow-'M and K'

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV

LONDON UP — It's Khrushchev and Mikoyan now instead of Khrushchev and Bulganin.

Moscow dispatches reported that Soviet Communist Party Leader Nikita S. Khrushchev had dropped Premier Nikolai Bulganin from the team of "B and K" for his visit to East Germany this week.

Instead Deputy Premier Anastas Mikoyan, the Soviet foreign trade expert who accompanied Khrushchev to Romania for talks with Marshal Tito, will go with the party chief to Germany.

The switch caught the Communist East German government by surprise. As late as

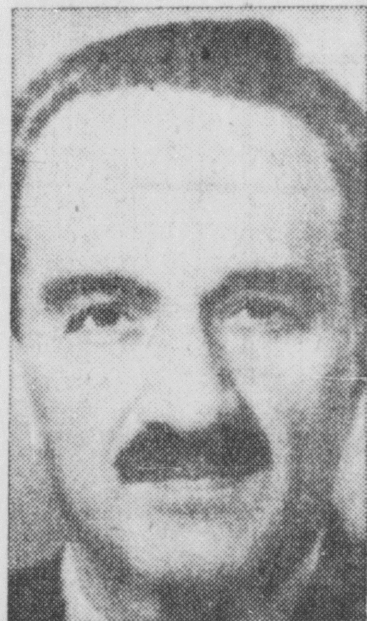

NIKOLAI BULGANIN

Sunday its official press was saying the Soviet delegation would be headed by Khrushchev and Bulganin.

There was renewed speculation in London that the spade-bearded premier would be kicked upstairs, possibly to replace President Kliment Voroshilov, and that Khrushchev might be grooming Mikoyan for the premiership.

Western diplomats in London have said that Bulganin is on his way out because he is reported to have sided with the disgraced Molotov - Malenkov-Kaganovich trio during the recent Kremlin purge.

The original Soviet acceptance of an East German invitation said both Khrushchev and Bulganin would make the trip. But the Soviet press, without explanation, announced that Bulganin would stay home. The dispatch was given page one prominence.

Although Bulganin accompanied Khrushchev on his recent visit to Czechoslovakia, he was conspicuously absent during the secret Khrushchev-Tito talks on Soviet-Yugoslav relations.

There appeared little basis to rumors that Bulganin would be dropped altogether, or disgraced, as was the Malenkov trio. But since they were "exposed" Bulganin has dropped more and more into the background.

Nab 1 Suspect; 5 Area Gas Stations 'Hit'

One of four burglary suspects who allegedly hit five Lower Southampton service stations and a riding club last night was captured in a shot-punctuated chase in that township.

The thieves got a total of $120 in cash and $500 in valuables before alerted police spotted them at the last station.

Edward J. Brooks, 4018 Paul St., Philadelphia, was captured while walking on Bustleton Pike, near one of the stations, and held as a suspect.

Stations Hit

The service stations burglarized include the following:

Atlantic Service Station, Irving Place and Bustleton Pike, $10 in cash and a watch valued at $10; Arms Esso Station, Bustleton Pike, $20 in cash; Harry's Texaco, Bustleton Pike, $60 in cash; Mobil Service Station, Bustleton Pike and Street Road, $15; Feasterville Auto Center, $5, and Huntingdon Valley Riding Club, County Line Road, $500 in riding and stable equipment.

Brooks was captured after the thieves abandoned their car on Franklin St., shortly after they were surprised in a service station by a Lower Southampton officer and an auxiliary policeman.

Police were first notified when the owner of Kent Cleaners, looking out his window, spotted figures moving about in the Arms Service station, across the street on Bustleton Pike.

Mr. Kent called William Arms, the service station owner who is also an auxiliary policeman. Lower Southampton police were also called by Kent.

Police Combine Efforts

Arms and police arrived at the same time, but the thieves had gone.

By this time, Lower Southampton Police Chief Edward Wunsch, Sgts. John A. Wagner and Frank Walters, Bensalem police, and Troopers William Thomas, Michael Metrolka and Cpl. Keith Dane of Fairless Hills State Police Barracks had joined in.

The officers began a patrol of the entire area, and Sgt. Waters and Arms finally caught up to the burglars at Harry's Texaco Station.

Several shots were fired by Walters and Arms, and the burglars escaped.

Later, after the burglars abandoned their car, Walters spotted one of the suspects, who fled over a fence and through a pasture. Walters fired three more shots, but the suspect got away.

The ensuing general alarm to Philadelphia, State and local police barracks turned up Brooks, who was caught without a struggle near the scene of the burglaries.

Ike Seeks Civil Rights Compromise

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower is seeking a civil rights compromise that at the very minimum limits jury trials to voting rights cases, authoritative quarters indicated today.

Highly placed administration sources said there is "no doubt" the President would veto the civil rights bill the Senate is set to pass this week.

With voting on amendments ended, the Senate put the rights bill aside today to work on other business. A vote to pass it was expected possibly Tuesday or Wednesday.

The administration is pinning its hopes on a Senate-House conference committee to beef up the Senate bill enough to make it acceptable. Many Democrats supporting the Senate version hope the House will approve it "as is" and send it to the White House.

The Senate measure provides for (1) a bipartisan commission to investigate violations of voting rights; (2) a new assistant attorney general to handle civil rights cases in the Justice Department; (3) power for the attorney general to seek federal court injunctions to prevent threats to Negroes' voting rights; (4) trial by jury for criminal contempt, but not civil contempt, arising out of violation of injunctions under this or other federal laws; (5) elimination of a present barrier to service by Negroes on some Southern juries; and (6) repeal of an old law permitting use of troops to enforce Negro rights.

Highest councils in the President's official family, chiefly the Justice Department, called the Senate version "woefully inadequate" and unacceptable.

They centered their fire on the bill's provision for jury trials in criminal contempt cases. This covers not only the measure's own voting rights section but all other criminal contempt cases brought by the federal government.

The sources said this would cause chaos in the federal courts by interfering with cases arising under a long list of statutes including labor cases, antitrust violations, federal trade commission matters and others.

McGuire Aids Two Schools

MCGUIRE AIR FORCE BASE, N.J. (UP)—The Air Force disclosed today that the Military Air Transport Service played a major role in completing a link between a Pittsburgh boy's school and an English religious shrine which share a patron saint.

A AMTS plane flew a stone from the ruins of the Abbey of St. Edmund, Bury St. Edmunds, England, to this base, where it was picked up by Dr. Hugh S. Clark, chaplain of St. Edmund's Academy, Pittsburgh.

The clergyman said the stone would be attached to the wall of the academy lobby as a symbol of close religious ties between England and America.

Patron saint of both the school and the abbey is King Edmund, who ruled East Anglia, England, from 855 A.D. to his martyrdom in 870 A.D.

Cool, Rainless Week Is Forecast

Lower Bucks County residents can expect cool, pleasant weather for at least the next three days, the Trenton office of the U. S. Weather Bureau said today.

The office said there will be day-to-day rises in temperature after Wednesday.

Slight rain over the weekend did nothing to help crops and did nothing more than give a brief respite to lawns. According to one source, "it helped nothing but the weeds."

Parched crops and dried up lawns can expect no rain until at least Thursday or Friday, however, the office said. At present, there may be showers (no appreciable amount) on those days.

Today and tomorrow's forecasts call for sunny, cool and low humidity weather, with the temperature both days in the low 80's.

Down To 66° Tonight
The temperature is expected to dip to 60 degrees tonight.

A United Press report predicts partly cloudy skies with cool temperatures through Wednesday across the state, with light

Convict Goes Before Rackets Probe Today

WASHINGTON (UP)—A convict temporarily paroled from his New York jail cell appears for questioning before the Senate Rackets Committee today.

He is Max Chester, former union official and friend of the notorious Johnny Dio, Chester, convicted of conspiring with employers, was slated to appear before the investigating committee this afternoon.

The committee arranged for him to be paroled from jail long enough to answer questions—if he will. He will be put back behind bars as soon as he finishes his testimony.

The committee's goal in questioning Chester — and others to come—is to trace the "bouncing charter" of one of Dio's New York union locals.

Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said meanwhile that organized labor would suffer "great injury" if James R. Hoffa succeeds to the presidency of the AFL-CIO Teamsters Union and then fails to clean up the union. He said the union "needs a clean-up."

Hoffa, Teamster vice president and candidate to succeed Dave Beck as president of the giant union, has been linked with Dio and his New York union activities by the committee.

McClellan, who predicted in advance his committee's current racket hearings would be "stupendous," said labor corruption turned up so far was "greater and more extensive than I anticipated." He expressed belief the Senate should continue the hearings for at least two years, and said there "must be remedial" legislation to restore control of unions to their membership and protect their welfare funds.

Chester was convicted July 25, along with Dio and Samuel Goldstein, an official of a Teamster Union local, of conspiring to get money from employers to insure labor peace.

U. S. Mourns Loss Of Senator George

VIENNA, Ga. (UP)—The nation's leaders today joined friends and neighbors of former Sen. Walter F. George in mourning the death of a small-town lawyer who mounted the forums of world statesmanship.

President Eisenhower said the Georgia Democrat, hailed for his bipartisanship in U.S. foreign affairs, "served his country and the free world for many years with distinction and integrity."

George headed the Senate Foreign Relations Committee at the pinnacle of his 34-year Senate career and afterward became the President's representative to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

George, 79, died at his home here early yesterday after a six-week struggle with heart disease which last June ended his active role in his new international career.

Burial Today
The body was to lie in state until about an hour before the funeral services late this afternoon in the First Baptist Church, where George had worshipped most of his life.

Town officials were advised that about two-score members of Congress would attend, including members of the Senate Foreign Relations and Finance committees, which George at one time headed.

SEN. WALTER F. GEORGE

Eisenhower designated Henry Cabot Lodge, U.S. ambassador to the United Nations and a former Senate colleague of George's, to represent the White House at the funeral services.

Old-Time Country Atmosphere

Middletown Fair Opens Tomorrow

A gay, colorful old-time country atmosphere will abound tomorrow at the Heston Manor Farm, Lindenhurst road off Yardley-Newtown Road, scene of the ninth annual Middletown Grange Fair.

The festivities will start bright and early at 10 a.m. tomorrow, and Wednesday and Thursday, too. Five giant tents on the Heston farm will house dairy cattle and sheep, a stunning flower show, exhibits by homemakers, farm equipment displays and a delicious old-style chicken barbecue supper for the public.

Sale Shots Available

The fair, open to the public with no admission charge, will be in the old original country (Continued on Page 11, Col. 5)

Good Evening!

Gentle August weather.

Twilight earlier and days shorter and the kids had better enjoy their ball while they have it. School bells sooner than you think.

At long last—left-turn signals at Route 13 and Beaver street like we've been urging for nearly three years.

Is the state going to install them on all of those busy intersections from Levittown south?

Ex-Senator Walter George dies at his home in Georgia at 79 and the whole nation is saddened.

One of the few really great statesmen and diplomats of our time, was Senator George, and he always placed service to country and to mankind above political expediency. A towering figure in affairs of the nation for the past three decades, he was.

Those scattered showers yesterday merely teasers all the way.

They eased the heat and the humidity, that's all. The drought as bad as ever and still no relief in sight.

Nicest rain of all along the shore where they didn't even need the darn stuff.

Phils beat the Cards yesterday and then get beaten.

You know, among other things we can now quit worrying about, is a National League pennant. It would appear all is back to normal again.

If there's one fool born every minute, as Barnum said, where do all the rest of them come from?

There's nothing new about passing the buck. But they never passed as fast as they do these days.

The gal who loved and lost must have hired the wrong lawyer.

Watch your driving.

Terrace Subdivision Plans Seen Confused

Confusion developed today over whether Bristol Township has approved the federal government's plans for creating a subdivision out of Bristol Terrace I prior to sale of the individual homes.

The president and secretary of the township Board of Commissioners have signed and approved the plans, yet a check of minutes of the recent meetings of the board fail to show any authorization for the approval.

The homes can't be sold until the subdivision plans are approved.

The Public Housing Administration, which holds title to the 193-home project, has started the procedure for the sale of the homes to the present occupants.

Levittown Drum Corps To Play In Harrisburg

Final arrangements are now being completed for the participation of the Levittown Senior Drum and Bugle Corps at the American Legion State Convention in Harrisburg, according to Joseph Malloy, Corps Chairman.

"The corps will leave Thursday night by special bus," Malloy stated. "And will remain in Harrisburg through Saturday."

Representing the Levittown Memorial Post 960, American Legion, the local musical unit will take part in the Class A division, field competition, which will be held on Friday night. This marks the Corps' first appearance on a drill field in competition with some of the best Drum Corps in the country.

Seeing Levittown

By LEE GARB

Well, it isn't everyone whose picture, when run next to Marilyn Monroe's, can elicit more comment than hers!

What 17-year-old male resident of Levittown was no end chagrined by being beaten out on the Levittown Parkway Sunday in a fast drag away from the Mill Creek light . . . by his own mother?

Top prize in the "Miss Levittown" contest will be a weekend at El Pocono Dude Ranch with her parents. The resort with a western twang is located in Thornhurst, Pa.

We hear that applications are being made fast and furiously at the five Levittown pools by lovely Levittowners between the ages of 13 and 19.

And the "Levittown-A-Rae" is now the 1957 official name of the erstwhile Summer Festival, we've been told.

Lost and Found Dept: Mrs. Jerome Peltzman of 32 Valentine Lane, Vermilion Hill, wants to publicly thank the "very kind woman in Fairless Hills" who returned three-year-old Steven Peltzman when he got lost on Friday night.

Jayne Masfield whooshed past Levittown today en route to Washington, D. C. . . understand the train made a whistle-stop in Trenton.

Small fry fishermen who had a gold mine in a small fishing hole in Red Cedar Hill section are crying the blues these days . . . seems the fishing was so good that the news got around to half the youngsters in Levittown.

Now, the once-abundant carp, bluegills and catfish are all but gone and the kids who used to catch as many as 20 fish in an afternoon have to sit through an entire day to get a nibble . . . and maybe, if they're extremely lucky . . . a fingerling catfish.

pected to drop to the low 40's in the mountains tonight.

Little change was predicted for Tuesday.

The Trenton Bureau office said only between .05 and .15 of an inch of rain fell in the area over the weekend.

The rainfall was termed "spotty," and although most of Lower Bucks was spattered with light showers, no rain fell at all in Central Bucks, according to County Agricultural Agent William F. Greenawalt.

Reportedly, the rain did nothing for badly damaged and almost hopeless early crops, but there may have been enough to give a boost to crops planted late.

Farmers Meet Tonight Bucks County farmers, hard-pressed by the killing drought, will meet tonight to decide whether they want to seek Federal aid.

The meeting will be held at 8 p.m. at the Bucks County Agricultural Extension office, S. Main St., Doylestown.

Greenawalt said the meeting is not open to the public but that representatives of farm organizations have been invited to express their views.

He said a survey would have to be made, and that farmers have not yet decided to apply for Federal drought aid.

Lawns Need Rain Meanwhile, the Delaware Valley Protective Association announced that it has received permission from the state to let farmers use as much water from the Delaware Canal as they need.

Walter Piltzka, Jr., area gardening expert, said the recent rainfall did nothing for shrubbery, "refreshed" small plants "and was just nice enough to help the weeds on lawns." He said a lot more rain will be needed to help parched lawns.

To bring back greenness to lawns, he said, rain would have to be spread over a long period of time, with the sun blotted out by clouds.

He said the sun should dry up last night's rainfall within three hours and that lawns need at least two inches of rainfall to "come back."

15th Fire Call Is At 15 Granite Road

Levittown Fire Company Number Two was called out to a fire for the 11th straight day yesterday. A washing machine motor in a home at 15 Granite Road, Goldenside, Levittown, caught fire.

Chief Wilfred Hudson reported this was the 15th fire for the company since July 25. The fire alarm has sounded everyday since the 25th, he said. Most of the calls were for grass or field fires, the chief said, however the streak also includes the $100,000 blaze which leveled a fat rendering plant on July 26.

The chief said despite the frequent calls and the hot weather the turnout of volunteers is still high. He added that 32 men reported for yesterday's fire.

Remember, speed is important. Others may be calling in the same item and only the first one in can be in the running for the prize.

Meat Truck Upsets As Tire Blows Out

A panel body meat delivery truck spun out of control and overturned after a tire blew out today on Route 413 near the Delaware Valley Crusade for Christ tent, Middletown Township.

Patrolman Roger Thorsen identified the truck driver as George E. Cannon, of 2351 East Carroll St., Philadelphia. The officer said the truck was traveling south on 413 when the left rear tire blew at 11:15 a.m. Cannon, who was not injured, was headed towards Levittown. Damage to the truck was estimated at $800.

Parade Starts Squad Drive

A fourteen unit parade marched down the Levittown Parkway from Fairless Hills Saturday to kick off the Levittown fund drive of the Levittown Emergency Squad.

The parade, led by Parade Marshall Louis Straight and John B. Stewart, chief of the Bristol Township Police, featured vehicular equipment and units from the Bucks County Rescue Squad, the Berholme First Aid Corps, Wissanoming First Aid Corps, Grandview Ambulance Corps, Torresdale Rescue Squad.

In addition, both Levittown Fire Companies 1 and 2, the Fairless Hills Volunteer Fire Company, Pennell Fire Company 1, Newportville Fire Company, were also represented.

Seven cars transported members of the Levittown Emergency Squad, which followed the Falls Township Police Color Guard.

Highlighting the parade was a float featuring the recently formed Skin Diving Rescue Corps, donated by the Meredith Construction Company.

Ceremonies The parade marched to the bandshell on the Mall of Levittown, where ceremonies were opened by Rev. Paul J. Cahill, of St. Joseph's Worker RC Church in Fallsington, who gave the invocation.

Mrs. Edward Kelly, a member of the squad sang the national anthem, and Miss Sue Cole, Midwest Jr., and Pennsylvania State champion Baton Twirler gave a lively demonstration.

Principal speakers for the ceremony were Richard L. Geruso, executive director of the Levittown Public Recreation Association and Elbert Kohli, Bristol Township commissioner and a member of the squad.

Capping Ceremony A capping ceremony of seven nurses was held during which Mrs. Fred Pommer, Jr., Mrs. Edward Raymond, Mrs. Jerry Gotta and Mrs. Terry Richardson received their senior pins and diplomas. Frank Kerwood, finance chairman of the squad closed the ceremonies with the plea that each family in Fairless Hills and Levittown would donate $3 to keep the squad operating at top level efficiency during the coming year.

White House Asks Data On Wilson Testimony

WASHINGTON (UP)—The White House today called for a transcript of congressional testimony by Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson in which he opposed a budgetary reform supported by President Eisenhower.

James C. Hagerty said the Chief Executive still was "strongly for" the legislation. Under the government would switch to an "accrual" form of financing from the "carry-over" system. The change was recommended by the Hoover Commission.

Hagerty, pending arrival of Wilson's transcript at the White House, said he did not believe that Wilson, in his critical comments to the House Appropriations committee, was talking about the basic legislation, but was referring to "partial financing" of the Air Force which would result from the proposed new budget method.

Morrisville Man Places In Contest

Raymond Slifke, of 310 Ferry Road, Morrisville, took fifth place in the senior class National Championship Model Airplane Meet at Willow Grove Naval Air Station after the third day competitions were counted.

More than 1,500 model airplane enthusiasts joined in the meet so far, and officials said the modelers are not only striving to better last year's performance, but many are aiming to smash to new world record goals.

Thirteen classes fired engines last Tuesday at the base. Free flight with gas engines class included senior, junior and open classes, while stunt classes featured junior and senior divisions.

Driver Held On Hit-Run

A New Jersey driver, who "never bothered to register for a driver's license," was held in $500 bail today for a hit-run charge last night, and $500 bail for drunken driving, and will be given a summary sentence for driving without a license.

Ernest Simpson, 40, of 288 Witherspoon St., Princeton, was found asleep on a lawn on Lincoln Highway, Trevoise, after allegedly driving through a red light, smashing into another car, and leaving the scene, Bensalem Police said.

Arraigned before Justice of the Peace Josephine Morris, Trevoise, last night, Simpson was held in $1,000 bail for today's hearing.

Patrolmen William Edwards and Robert Bell said witnesses told them that Simpson collided with a car driven by Walter H. Voit, 17, of 179 Windswept Drive, Feasterville.

Simpson allegedly drove west on Lincoln Highway following the crash, where he was overtaken by Robert Haney, 19, of Hatorbo. Haney forced Simpson to stop, police said, but the New Jersey man walked off while waiting for police.

He was found a half-hour later asleep on the lawn. Taken to the Lower Bucks County Hospital, Simpson was pronounced drunk by Dr. Felix Mooney.

Simpson told police, "I never bothered to register for a license in New Jersey." Police said a driver's license from South Carolina found in his possession, was out-dated.

U.S. May Outback Military Overseas

WASHINGTON (UP) — A top-secret investigation by a special presidential mission may result in a cutback in U.S. military might overseas, according to high administration officials.

Officials said the special mission, which was set up to look into operations of American bases and troops overseas, was headed by Frank G. Nash, former assistant secretary of defense for international affairs.

The Nash mission report may lead to a reduction in the number of American servicemen stationed abroad, the elimination of some minor bases, and an acreage cutback at other overseas bases.

Nash said his on-the-spot check is now complete and he is ready to write a report.

Youth Not 'Chicken' Suffers Broken Neck

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — A youth who suffered a broken back and neck Friday to prove he was not "chicken" is in Nazareth Hospital here today with a "thousand to one" chance to live.

William Burmeister, 18, of Frankford, suffered the critical injuries when he dove from a 12-foot retaining wall into about two feet of water in the Poquessing Creek after being tormented by his companions with cries of "chicken."

Richard H. Evans At Summer Course

Richard H. Evans of 38 East Trenton Ave., Morrisville, is among the many educators taking courses in the Rutgers School of Education during the six-week Summer Session at the university. Mr. Evans teaches at Neshaminy Sr. High School. He is a graduate of Rutgers and is now working for his master's degree.

Pennsbury Alumni Organizes

Irving Neeld (seated left with notebook), presided over a meeting of Pennsbury alumni, gathered to organize an alumni association. Mr. Neeld said the meeting was "successful and we're hopeful of getting right down to business." An organizational meeting has been set for Sept. 5 at the Pennsbury High School. (Courier-Times Photo)

Friends Urge Disarmament

The Peace Committee of the Yardley Monthly Meeting of the Society of Friends has sent a letter to President Eisenhower urging him to continue efforts to bring about a disarmament agreement.

The contents of the July 31, letter, which were disclosed today, urged the President's "continued efforts to negotiate a disarmament agreement. These especially include the agreement to: end nuclear weapons tests, create an aerial inspection zone, and to cut the present armed forces."

The letter was signed by Betty Trimmer, chairman of the peace committee.

Farm Worker Charged With Drunk Driving

A migratory farm worker was lodged in jail Saturday night to await a hearing on a charge that he drove on a drunken course through Tullytown.

A hearing will be held tonight by Justice of the Peace James Parto for the driver, Amadeo Rivera, 49, a Puerto Rican, of King Farms, Tullytown police said he was pronounced drunk in a doctor's test at Delaware Valley Osteopathic Hospital, Bristol.

Patrolman Pat Coia said he pursued Rivera a half mile east on Main St., and Bordentown road before stopping him. He said Rivera was driving a zigzag course on Main St., with heavy pressure on the horn and accelerator, forcing other motorists off the road. Unable to raise bail, the farm hand was locked up in Bristol borough jail to await the hearing.

Coia also charged him with not possessing a Pennsylvania driver's license, although his car had a Pennsylvania tag. The driver showed only a Florida operator's license, the officer said.

Economist To Address Area Rotary Club

Youths Learn About Nature At Cook-Out

A Lower Makefield Recreation cook-out at Bowman's Hill, Washington Crossing, last week turned out to be a free lesson in nature study for some 30 children and three counsellors.

It all started when one of the children discovered a racoon in one of the trash cans Supervisor O.J. McGinley figured the coon dropped in the can from a tree in search of food.

No Return

That part was all right. But the coon couldn't make it back up the can's steep slippery sides.

Well aware of the sharp teeth and claws, the counsellors attempted to free the beast by dumping the can on its side.

Mistake

That was a mistake. Just as the coon had disentangled himself, a strong gust of wind started the half-filled can on its way down an embankment, spewing trash paper a good hundred feet down the hill.

Brother coon made an awkward but sure leap for the deep woods. The campers then learned how to play a new game Supervisors called it "Pick Up Papers." Children called it fun.

Nab Driver After Crash

A motorist who Bristol borough police said kept on going after hitting two parked cars at Wilson Avenue and Pond St. early yesterday was the victim of his own doing.

Alerted with a description of the car, Patrolmen Peter Caro and William Bolten found the driver stopped at Pond St. and Jefferson Avenue. He was trying to get his own disabled car in shape to continue, the officers said.

The driver was identified as Bernardo T. Rivera, 40, of 626 Court C, Bristol Terrace 2. He was charged with reckless driving and failure to stop at the scene of an accident and identify himself.

Police said Rivera, at 2 a.m. yesterday hit the parked car of Russell Hauser, 1100 Pond St. and caused it to hit the parked car of Frank Gallone, 1047 Pond St. The entire right front of Rivera's car was damaged and the left rear, fender, trunk and grill of Hauser's car. Police had no details on damage to the Gallone car.

Rivera was driving west on Wilson Avenue when he crashed. He told police an unknown east-bound car caused him to hit the parked cars.

World Still Reels In Atomic Terror

EDITORS: During Lyle C. Wilson's vacation this month, substitute dispatches for Monday's, Wednesday and Fridays will be written by other members of the Washington staff. Monday's dispatch is by UP's chief diplomatic correspondent in the capital.

By DONALD J. GONZALES

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP)—Secretary of State John Foster Dulles' mission to London produced a historic agreement among the Western Allies but no assurance that the world is nearer the elusive goal of security from atomic carnage.

The London talks still face the same big disagreements between Russia and the West on arms limitations, inspection machinery and nuclear test suspension.

The showdown in the 11-year search for an end to the arms race may come in four to six weeks, officials here believe.

Two more weeks will be required by U.S. disarmament negotiator Harold E. Stassen to complete presentation of the complex U.S. - Western "first step" disarmament plan. He still has proposals to make on details of international inspection and controls, on reduction of conventional weapons and on freezing the world's stockpiles of nuclear weapons.

Expect Study Recess

After that, Western officials expect a recess of two to four weeks while Russia studies the package plan and drafts its reply.

The crucial sessions will probably come in middle or late September.

Before then, however, Moscow may have indicated clearly—in official statements or controlled press and radio comments—whether there is any hope of agreement.

Official American optimism has turned increasingly cautious lately, as recent statements by Soviet Communist Leader Nikita Khrushchev and disarmament negotiator Valerian Zorin offered no hint of compromise.

In his London conference with Zorin, Dulles also stuck firmly to the Western position rejecting Soviet demands for a suspension of atomic tests without reference to arms.

If Russia agrees in principle to the package plan idea hopes will soar again. But "agreement in principle" is more easily won than a signed and sealed, self-enforcing pact with Russia.

Russia wants inspection control machinery placed under the U.N. Security Council, subject to Soviet veto. The Western Allies want a veto-free corp of truly independent air and ground inspectors.

Asks Nuclear Ban

Russia demands destruction of nuclear weapons and a ban on nuclear warfare. The West says there is no sure method of detecting hordes of fissionable materials or atomic bomb stockpiles, so any such agreement would be undependable.

Washington assumes that atomic armed nations will use their weapons in war, regardless of paper promises to the contrary.

If Russia accepts one of the two revolutionary "open skies" plans offered by Dulles in behalf of the Western Allies at London Friday, many complicated details will remain to be worked out.

A special task force under direction of retired Gen. James H. (Jimmy) Doolittle has been working on plans which would minimize the loopholes and pitfalls in the international inspection proposal.

Point by point, every U.S. and Western idea must be cross-checked and negotiated among the Allies before presentation at the London sessions.

American officials concede the pace is slow. But they say it also remarkably fast, considering the complexity and importance of the issues. The world's future could be decided by a recklessly written line of fine print.

Armed Thugs Rob Gamblers

PHILADELPHIA (UP) — Armed bandits held up some 30 gamblers Sunday and escaped with more than 50 thousand dollars from what police described as the largest floating dice game in Philadelphia.

Four of the gunmen got away in an automobile but one suspect was caught as he attempted to escape and was identified as Leonard J. Leo, 34, of Philadelphia.

The bandits unwittingly aided police by uncovering the game which had been sought by authorities for over a year. Police said no one was allowed to attend the game, which moved to a new location every week, unless he could bet one thousand dollars. Sunday's game was held in the respectable Graduate Club in South Philadelphia.

Registration Slated At Morrisville School

All pupils who have not previously been registered for Morrisville schools may do so between August 5 and 9, it was announced today by Manohar Reiter, superintendent.

Kindergarten through sixth grade pupils will be registered Monday and Tuesday in Summerseat. Hours will be between 9 a.m. and noon and Mary Broome is in charge.

Junior and senior high school pupils will be registered from 8 a.m. to 10 a.m. in the guidance office of the high school throughout the week. Dorothy Gish is in charge.
